1. ABOUT EAST AFRICAN WOMEN IN BUSINESS PLATFORM (EAWiBP)

The East African Women in Business Platform (EAWiBP) is a forum that brings together business and professional women from across the East African Community (EAC). It’s membership and Steering Committee comprises of; national apex bodies/associations / networks of business women (including associations of women formal and informal cross-border traders); professional women associations; and regional civil society organisations working to promote business women and women’s socio-economic advancement. The Platform works in each East African country through national business and professional associations across the region and by virtue of this; currently represents over 12,500 business and professional women in the region.

With the view of increasing intra-EAC trade in the region, the East African Business Council (EABC), with the support of TradeMark East African (TMEA) began the process of establishing EAWiBP in 2011. EAWiBP draws its mandate from the Treaty for the Establishment of East African Community, particularly under Chapter 25 and Articles 121 and 122, and is inspired by the vision of becoming “A Women’s Centre of Excellence for Intra and Extra-EAC Trade”. Its mission is; “Position and Catalyse the Participation of Women in EAC’s Integration Process”. The Platform is taking proactive steps to increase women’s participation in intra – EAC trade, EAC integration process and economic empowerment and thereby works towards the following result areas:

1. Increased effective participation of women in business in the EAC integration processes
2. Improved economic contribution of women in business in the EAC Partner States
3. Increased progression of women-owned enterprises in the EAC from informal to formal status

2. BACKGROUND TO THE EAWiBP-TRADEMARK EAST AFRICA PROJECT

The TMEA project- “Greater Inclusion of Women in Trade Regional Programme” is a Regional and Country Programmes targeting Improved environment (policy/regulatory/institutional) for women in trade, Improved capacity (knowledge and skills) of women traders to participate in trade and Increased access to markets and trade-related services for targeted women traders.

The purpose of the Women in Trade programme is to contribute to the greater inclusion of women in trade as one of the pathways to increased business competitiveness and increased trade in the EAC. This will be achieved by the following objectives:

Objective (i) Increase in the trade value and incomes of women traders in East Africa: Women-owned SMEs and traders are unduly impacted by unfavorable policy and trade environments including restrictive regulatory regimes, access to finance, gender insensitive customs border management, information asymmetries, harassment and corruption.

Objective (ii) Increase in the number of women participating in trade: This programme seeks to eliminate the barriers of entry to trade for women across the EAC. This will be addressed through a three-pronged approach that will respond to the constraints at policy, sectoral and firm level.

3. RATIONALE

Women are among the disadvantaged or special interest groups in many developing economies. AGPO is among the ways to address this through setting aside a percentage of all public procurement opportunities for Women, Youth and Persons with Disability. It seeks to empower these groups by giving access to procurement initiatives without competition from established firms. Consequently, access and uptake of the public procurement opportunities by women is low and, in some cases, not available in specific Partner States.

EAWiBP members being the beneficiaries of this opportunity, it is crucial to know the status of AGPO in all of the EAC Partner States given that not all have this provision in place. The paper hopes to assess the level of uptake for those that have already passed into regulation while reviewing the status and determining why this hasn't been effected in other Partner States. This will be important in addressing the available constraints in bid to influence its institution in all Partner States and establish a regional framework for AGPO.
